

i don't just talk about a better world

iAct

iAct is a 2 day training program that is focussed on building the vision, knowledge & skills of emerging young leaders from diverse faith backgrounds. Throughout the workshops you will learn about religious differences, shared values, the power of communication and how to be a peacebuilder. You will come together with others to devise your own social action projects and make them happen!

The training is designed and run by InterAction's experienced young leaders who will share their skills and offer ongoing mentoring and support. We have the support of the Australian Multicultural Foundation, the Victorian Multicultural Commission, the UNESCO chair in interreligious & intercultural relations, the United Religions Initiative. This project has been funded by the Australian Government acting through the Attorney-General's Department.

Apply today! We invite you to be the change in your community by building bridges of understanding and co-operation. Download the application form from our website to apply today!
